Concept Question 5-6: If the time constant of a negative exponential function is doubled in value, will the corresponding waveform decay faster or slower?

Slower. An exponential function with a short time constant rises or decays faster than an exponential function with a longer time constant.